

Chris Cassidy

Associate Professor, Design and New Media
University of North Carolina at Greensboro

Chris Cassidy, From Albany to the Adirondacks

Collaborative Project with Students (Overview)

Each student will travel to a specific spot located on a map of the Raleigh area, record short videos responding to the location (using smart phone, camcorder, digital SLR camera w/video, etc.) and collect samples from the site while there. Cassidy will then assemble an interactive composite view of Raleigh from the footage and samples for his upcoming exhibition, Standing There.

Standing There

"... our always already-mediated experience of our environment is inseparable from the practical difficulties of our relationship to the natural world."

Chris Cassidy invites students to participate in a collaborative project this fall that will be included in his upcoming exhibition, Standing There. Learn more about this exciting opportunity at the lecture!

Wednesday,

Sept. 7

7:00 p.m.

Kresge Auditorium
Meredith College