All camps will be held in Wainwright Music Building on the Meredith College Campus

Our address is
Meredith College
3800 Hillsborough Street
Raleigh, North Carolina 27607-5298

Location of Wainwright Music Building
The main entrance onto the Meredith College campus is found slightly west of the Raleigh beltline (I-440) at the Hillsborough Street exit. When using the main entrance, one will drive up a long driveway. At the mid-point of this driveway there is a traffic circle. Drive half-way around the traffic circle and continue along the main driveway. Then take the first right. Jones Auditorium will be immediately on your left, and Wainwright Music Building connects to the back of Jones Auditorium. There are several entrances to Wainwright, but the main entrance is at the far end of this building when approaching from this direction. There are double glass doors, and a small traffic circle for emergency vehicles at the main entrance. There is also a sign to identify this entrance. The lobby to the music building is inside the double glass doors found at this emergency traffic circle. At the beginning of each camp, this is the location for student arrival.
The NEW Piano Camp
July 9-13 and 16-20, Monday-Friday 9 a.m.-12:00 noon

This two-week camp is designed for students with PRIOR piano study. Students are divided into groups depending upon ability and each given activity. This camp can accommodate up to 30 students. Activities focus on music skills that are appropriate for students in each group. Our intent is to maintain interest, stimulate imagination and provide attainable challenges for these students. Students enrolled in this camp should have approximately 30 minutes of daily practice time available to them at home each day during the two-week time of the camp. In order to participate in this camp, students should be comfortable with basis music reading skills. Families should consult their current teacher in determining the reading ability of the student. Students should be taking piano lessons during the school year preceding this camp. Suzuki piano students should have transitioned into music reading for full benefit from this camp. The Piano Camp ends with an all-camp ensemble recital. Parents and friends are welcome to join us for our exciting musical FINALE of ensemble music.

Here is what to expect from our New Piano Camp 2018. The format of the camp is newly developed and completely redesigned to have a new focus for students.

This is a 2-week camp. It is necessary for students to attend all 10 days of the camp.

Students will now explore in group settings topics to include:
- Sight-reading in a carefully directed and efficient manner at each student’s needed level. This step-by-step process of reading rhythm, along with isolated hands-together playing will be stressed before students attempt to add all the notes, articulations, and dynamics to the music. Emphasis will also be put upon how to determine appropriate and comfortable fingering options for various technical configurations of notes. Because this will be done in small groups of students, each student will be directed in how to listen and feel the all-important underlying musical beat with which all good sight-reading must be associated. In this setting students will be guided in musical continuity and efficient tracking of the eye.

- Technique classes where students will explore helpful exercises by such masters at Hanon, Czerny, Weimeyer, just to name a few. Additionally, they will explore fingerings of major, minor, and chromatic scales in various rhythm patterns, articulations, speeds, and other musical possibilities.

- Analysis of the music that students are currently studying. This will be done in useful theoretical terms that will aid in better reading, more complete understanding of the music and will provide ease in memorizing the music being studied.
• An exploration of structured memory steps that are appropriate to each student’s currently level of playing.

• Special sessions in reading, feeling and hearing rhythm in various combinations; reading and ear-training of melodic patterns and chord progressions; Eurhythmics (music and movement) will be offered.

• Enrichment sessions in the history of keyboard instruments, music appreciation of the great masterworks of music, etc. will be a part of each camper’s experience.

• Piano Ensemble playing both for stressing sight reading and working to reach performance level of piano repertoire.

• Composer Studies where students learn pertinent information regarding great composers.

Groupings of students will vary from subject to subject and from day to day as is needed to meet their level of competency and their progress during the two weeks of the camp. Our desire will be to set attainable and stimulating challenges for all levels of students.

Ages: 6 – 14:

Students ages 6 to 7 need at least 1 to 2 years of study.
Students ages 8 to 9 need at least 1 to 3 years of study.
Students 10 and up need at least 2 to 3 years of study.
Groupings of students will vary from activity to activity.
The ability to read music is necessary.

Fee: $265 for this 10-day camp

Instructors might include: Donna Jolly, Tom Lohr, Angela Stephenson, & Margaret Evans

Beginners’ Piano Camp
(for rising grades 1 – 4)
July 23-27, Monday-Friday, 9-11 a.m.

This camp is intended to introduce students to the beginning concepts of music study, with emphasis on:
- Rhythmic awareness and reading
- Keyboard awareness
- Staff reading and writing
- Aural training through guided listening

Students enrolling in this camp should NOT have had piano lessons previously. Having a piano at home is not necessary for this camp. This is a great way to introduce your child to piano study. Many parents of past campers have said that the concepts covered serve as a good introduction to the study of any new instrument.

Ages: Rising grades 1-4 (these are students entering grades 1 – 4)
Former Beginners’ Piano Campers should not repeat this camp.
Fee: $120
Groups are limited to 8 or 9 students.
Instructors: Donna Jolly, Angela Stephenson

This camp is designed to give high school students a sample of basic college music theory. It will help any student who is considering music as a major in college. Or it will help anyone who is excited about expanding his/her basic knowledge of music. PRIOR music reading ability IS necessary. In the week-long session students will deal with traditional music theory of functional harmony; the ideas of keys and key signatures, along with chord structures, part-writing and basic analysis. Additionally, time will be spent covering a variety of approaches to composition by composers of the 20th and 21st centuries including whole-tone, pentatonic, quartal, quintal, octatonic, and 12-tone theory.

Ages: Grades 10, 11 and 12. (Younger students or adults are admitted in special instances.)

There is only one group, and space is limited to 15 students.

Fee: $135 per week
Instructor: Tom Lohr

Intensive Piano Camp

June 18 - 22, Monday – Friday 9:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.

Saturday, June 23 – Grand Finale Recital – 3:00 p.m.

This 6-day camp, with a concluding recital on Saturday, June 23, is designed for students who wish to have a week-long time of concentrated study of piano. The level of ability that a student needs to have achieved to be considered for this camp can vary from intermediate to advanced playing. Students should be at least 10 years old and should have a workable foundation in piano playing at their level and be comfortable with basic sight-reading skills and eager to meet the challenge of a week of focused practice and music-making and be clearly at or above intermediate level playing.

Activities during the week will include:

- 3 or more hour-long lessons*
- daily master classes
- group technique classes
- theory classes
- lessons in ensemble playing
- individual practice time
- time to study the playing of great pianists

*Each student will have his or her own private lessons, but also will attend the lessons of another student.

The repertoire upon which we will focus will be:

For intermediate students:
1. Baroque two-part pieces, ranging from minuets to 2-part inventions
2. Classical Sonatinas
3. Accessible Romantic character pieces
4. Music from the 20th and 21st centuries – pedagogical method pieces generally are not included
5. Piano duets or two-piano works from the standard repertoire

For more advanced students:
1. Baroque preludes, fugues or suite movements
2. Classical Sonatas
3. Romantic character pieces and/or more demanding works
4. Non-traditional music from the 20th and 21st centuries – pedagogical method pieces generally are not included
5. Piano duets or two-piano works from the standard repertoire

The number of students for this camp is limited. Due to the concentrated work we will be doing, we can accept only 4 to 8 students. (Students will be grouped in suitable ensemble pairs).
Parents of interested students should contact Tom Lohr. An audition/interview is necessary for acceptance into this camp. Please contact Tom Lohr at lohrt@meredith.edu to schedule an audition/interview. Please do not submit a check and application form prior to acceptance. Once the accepted students have been announced, families must complete registration and submit payment by Monday, May 7.

For the audition students should:

- plan to play three (3) pieces in contrasting styles (please avoid using pedagogical repertoire), all from memory
- be prepared to demonstrate their sight reading skills
- be prepared to demonstrate scale playing or other aspects of his or her technical routine
- Each student’s general knowledge of theory will also be assessed at the interview.
- Please consult with your piano teacher regarding appropriate choice of repertoire for the audition and for assistance in preparing for the other skills to be examined (sight reading, scale playing, chords and arpeggios).
- Please bring books that contain works that you are currently studying in addition to those that you plan to play for the audition

For work at the camp students should plan to bring at least three (3) pieces in contrasting styles to the camp for work in the master classes. Please note the five (5) suggested categories above. Please consult with your piano teacher regarding appropriate choice of repertoire to bring to the camp for study. Additionally, students will be learning to play new solo and ensemble (duet) repertoire during the course of the week. Once a student is accepted for the camp, he or she might be notified of a limited amount music to purchase prior to the start of the camp. Students should have practice time during the weeks prior to the camp and time to do some practice during the evenings during the week that the camp is in session.

All students will perform a combination of solo and ensemble music in the Grand Finale Recital on Saturday, June 23, at 3:00 p.m. in Clara Carswell Concert Hall.

All students will go to lunch Monday – Friday in the Belk Dining Hall on the Meredith Camp with the faculty. Fees for lunch are covered in the charge for this camp. Students are encouraged to bring morning and/or afternoon snacks if they so desire. Refrigeration space will be provided.

Levels: Intermediate - Advanced

Fee: $375.00 (This fee includes daily lunches). Students are encouraged to bring morning and/or afternoon snacks if they so desire.

Middle School Composition Camp

June 25 – 29, Monday-Friday 9:00 a.m. – 12:00 noon

This camp is designed to give middle school students insights into both traditional and more recent methods of music composition. In our exploration we will examine ways in which composers have worked both within a purely tonal musical setting (typical of Baroque, Classical and Romantic Period composers), but, depending upon the experience of the students, we are likely also to examine more modern methods of composing that include using whole-tone, pentatonic, quartal, quintal and 12-tone techniques. This exploration will help anyone who is excited about expanding his/her basic knowledge of music. Prior music reading ability of both treble and bass clef is necessary. It is also best that students who register for this camp have done some work in composition previously. Students are encouraged to bring at least one notated original composition to the camp for study in a master class setting. Students will need time during the week to work on assignments at home. While it is generally better for students at this age to be working with pencil and paper when notating their musical compositions, as we will do at the camp, students are encouraged to bring laptops with compositions that they have already composed. Exercises in ear training will be a daily feature of the camp.

Ages: Rising Grades 7, 8 and 9.
There is only one group, and space is limited to 6 students.

Fee: $125

High School Composition Camp NEW Summer 2018

June 25 – 29, Monday-Friday 1:00 p.m. – 4:00 p.m.

This camp is designed to give middle school students insights into both traditional and more recent methods of music composition. In our exploration we will examine ways in which composers have worked both within a purely tonal musical setting (typical of Baroque, Classical and Romantic Period composers), but, depending upon the experience of the students, we are likely also to examine more modern methods of composing that include using whole-tone, pentatonic, quartal, quintal and 12-tone techniques. This exploration will help anyone who is excited about expanding his/her basic knowledge of music. Prior music reading ability of both treble and bass clef is necessary. It is also best that students who register for this camp have done some work in composition previously. Students are encouraged to bring at least one notated original composition to the camp for study in a master class setting. Students will need time during the week to work on assignments at home. While it is generally better for students at this age to be working with pencil and paper when notating their musical compositions, as we will do at the camp, students are encouraged to bring laptops with compositions that they have already composed. Exercises in ear training will be a daily feature of the camp.

Ages: Rising Grades 10 – 12.

There is only one group, and space is limited to 6 students.

Fee: $125

Instructor: Tom Lohr

Contact person for these camps is Tom Lohr (919) 760-8378 or Lohrt@meredith.edu
