This tour reflected both thoughtful travel insight and a vision of excellence. Our schedule provided a comfortable balance of sight-seeing, background history, contemporary issues, art, literature, entertainment, and free time. I have toured with several companies and this Meredith tour shines as one of my very favorites.

— Maureen Johnson, participant in previous Meredith Travel tours

Meredith College put together a trip that was not touristy but rather a rich experience that examined the history, literature, culture, politics, art, music, food, anthropology, and even dance. We had just enough free time and plenty of options and instruction for independent exploration.
