Program Overview
Designed as a 10-day Italian travel sampler, we are excited to once again offer our popular continuing education program in Tuscany for alumnae and friends of Meredith College!

Beginning in Florence, this class will explore some of Florence’s famous food markets, art museums, and historic architecture. We will then journey to Sansepolcro, a hidden gem of Tuscany, and home of Meredith College’s study abroad programs in Italy.

While in Sansepolcro, we will learn to cook and eat authentic Tuscan food under the expert tutelage of Margherita Tirabosco, chef of Meredith College’s Palazzo Alberti. We will journey to nearby Tuscan towns, where we will see the production of beautifully designed Italian pottery and fabrics. We will also visit a winery, an olive and wheat farm, and many more historic buildings and museums.

Participant Voices
“I traveled to Sansepolcro with 3 classmates last spring. Being taught by authentic Italian chefs, we learned to make pasta and how to season a boar stew. As we explored Florence and lovely Tuscan hill towns, we all agreed that a daily gelato and cappuccino make everything better. We are fortunate that Meredith College created a trip-of-a-lifetime for alumnae and it was the perfect way for us to enjoy being together again!” - Patty Whisnant Cease, ’75
